You can explore multiple maps/datasets on this webpage.

If you zoom in on the map by clicking on the button in the upper left, the map will switch to show county-level data. Zoom in further and you will see census tract areas. Each census tract area includes an average of about 4,000 people, so census tracts can be used to collect information about a local area.

Click on the search button and enter an address to go directly to that location and see census tract-level information. You can zoom out from there to get to county-level information.

The maps are categorized by variable/topic. Access the maps by selecting from the menu on the left side of the screen.
